

Finding Local Resources:

The North Coast Reuse Guide

for Humboldt & Del Norte County

A Guide for 2007

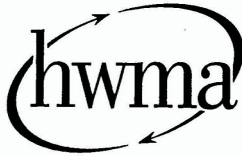

Introduction

Within the last generation, disposable products have become a growing percentage of our purchases. When we reuse, repair, and borrow materials, we save both money and natural resources. Additionally, we reduce energy and greenhouse gases by generating, transporting and maintaining less garbage.

Older products still have useful lives. When you buy, donate and resell them, you prolong their use. Plus, you economically strengthen local organizations that give back to our communities.

When purchasing high quality products and investing in their repair, you save replacement and disposal costs.

This guide connects Humboldt and Del Norte County residents to local people who buy, sell or accept quality reuseables, and repair and rent speciality products.

Call Humboldt County's Waste Reduction Hotline at (707)268-8030 for additional copies or suggestions for future publication.

This brochure was updated by the Humboldt Waste Management Authority's Integrated Waste Management Program with assistance from the Del Norte Solid Waste Authority. The original version was compiled by Gainer & Associates with funding from the Local Government Commission and the California Integrated Waste Management Board. Special thanks to the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources for artwork (pg 10).

Listing in this guide does not constitute an endorsement from Humboldt or Del Norte Counties or the Humboldt Waste Management Authority.

Donating Reusables

Tips for Donating Items to Thrift Stores

In Humboldt and Del Norte Counties we are fortunate to have devoted nonprofit agencies that provide shelter, food, job training, and other services to community members. Income for these programs are generated through thrift store operations. To maintain the mission of these agencies, help them by following these simple steps for donating:

- Call the thrift store to ensure their acceptance of your items and find out the donation hours.
- NEVER LEAVE DONATIONS AT A THRIFT STORE before or after store hours. If you do so, it will be considered illegal dumping. In addition to the severe legal repercussions you can face, it also hurts the agency's mission of helping our community.
- Donate items in good condition, without holes or mold.
- If a store cannot accept your items, ask to be referred to other thrift stores and reuse shops. You can also call (707) 268-8030 (Humboldt's Waste Reduction Hotline) for other sources.

Reuse, then Recycle

Reuse

Reusing resources is an easy way to reduce waste. When you shop and donate at these locations, you support your community while saving resources and money.

The Evolution of the Waste Can

Repair

Repairing an item you already own can be more cost effective in the long run than buying something new. Older resources are oftentimes built for repair rather than disposal, unlike many modern products. So if possible, repair it!

"Maintaining things is what I grew up with. If you didn't maintain it, you didn't have it. Take your lawnmower, if you don't change your oil at least once a year, you shorten the life of it by one half." George Herd, George's Small Engine Repair

Buy for Waste Reduction

Tips for Repair, Durability and Waste Prevention Purchasing

- Buy high quality, durable, and reusable merchandise. Do research through consumer reports, talk to people in the repair industry, ask friends who buy quality and durable merchandise.
- Consider the length of the warranty and availability of repair services when purchasing equipment.
- Instead of buying equipment that is used only occasionally, RENT it!
- At work: Institute maintenance practices that prolong the life of copiers, computers, and other equipment.
- At home: Institute maintenance practices that prolong the life of washers, dryers, refrigerators, electronics, and other equipment.
- Reuse is always your best option, so look for options in this Guide before disposal.
- Shop at reuse stores and buy used goods whenever possible.
- Rechargeable batteries are a great way to save money and reduce waste for all of your battery-powered needs.
- Use retreaded tires on vehicles. Rotate tires on a regular basis to prolong tire life. Buy tires that have an 80-100,000 mile life expectancy. Keep tires properly inflated!
- What are your ideas for reuse and repair? Be creative!
